

University of Basel

Department of Languages and Literatures

Prof. Dr. Miriam Locher
University of Basel, Department of Languages and Literatures, Nadelberg 6, CH-4051 Basel

Student assistant position in English Linguistics 12h per week (28.6%)

As of February 1, 2020 to 31 January 2022, the Department of English at the University of Basel is looking for a student assistant in English Linguistics (with Professor Miriam Locher).

Your position

The successful applicant will support Prof. Locher in her research and teaching (literature search, endnote library maintenance, compilation of course readers, copying/scanning, proofreading, editing, conference organisation, etc.).

Your profile

We are looking for a well-organized and advanced student (3rd year BA, or MA student) with strong language and research skills and a keen interest in English linguistics. Applicants should be able to work independently.

We offer you

You will work in a vibrant and research-active department and will gain experience in administrative and academic tasks in English linguistics at the University of Basel.

Application / contact

In one pdf file, applicants should send in

- a cover letter
- their CV
- a piece of writing of no more than 30 pages that best represents the applicant's writing, e.g. a proseminar or seminar paper
- copies of university diploma(e) if available by October 10, 2019.

Please address your correspondence electronically to Andrea Wuest in one pdf file:

Email address: sek-mlps-englsem@unibas.ch

Subject: "HiWi in English Linguistics, Locher"

University of Basel Department of Languages and Literatures
English
Nadelberg 6
4051 Basel, Switzerland

Prof. Dr. Miriam Locher
Professor of the Linguistics of English
T +41 61 207 27 83
Miriam.Locher@unibas.ch